

Articulation Agreements

---

What is an articulation agreement?

The College of Biblical Studies has chosen to develop partnerships with a few seminaries and universities. One important way of doing this is by forming articulation agreements. An articulation agreement is an officially approved agreement that matches coursework between schools. These are designed to help students make a smooth transition when transferring between the schools. Each school reserves the right to review and determine on an individual basis exactly which courses (if any) transfer and on what basis. Articulation agreements are also helpful when a CBS student decides to attend graduate school. Many schools currently accept an associate degree or bachelor's degree from CBS without formal agreements.

CBS is proud to be associated by articulation agreement with the following schools.

- Texas A&M Commerce
- Lone Star College System
- Chafer Theological Seminary
- Colorado Christian University

CBS is also proud to be informally associated and recognized by the following schools:

- Dallas Theological Seminary
- Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary
- Houston Baptist University
- Southeastern Bible College